MR. SPINNER ON THE PUNDING MILL.

Treasurer Spinner has written another letter to Chas. B. Hall, President of the Boston National Bank, on the funding bill, in which he says: "It was no part of my intention to make charges against the bank. I simply intended in my recent letter to advise them for their own good. I confess I am not savorably impressed with their action in appointing a committee with plenary powers to treat with Congress in regard to a great sational question that concerns the whole people. In this letter you must have noticed, that, while I would misse that the loan must be piaced at a low rate of interest, I would at the same time deal liberally with the banks. During the war the National Banks and the Government were financial partners."

He then says further on, that it will be the ultimate interest of all that the new loan ghould be placed at the lowest possible rate of interest, and he hopes to see the banks go to work vigorously and cheerfully to support of effect this process and the hopes to see the shake go to work vigorously and cheerfully to support Bontweil and bis funding bill. To effect this he say the banks abould make some sentifices, and the Government should sliow them and others who cribet in the work a liberal per centage for silt the stocks of the new ions that they may take from and dispose for the United States. If the Government should pay to its agents for this service the difference in the rate of interest between the prosecut and the proposed loan for one year, it would be a good bargain for us and those who will come after us.

We are informed by our special correspondent at Washington that for some came or other we are to have a postponement until next week of the discussion of the late legal tender decision of the Supreme Court, or the legal tender decision of the late Supreme Court, for the present iribinal is not only not the same which gave the decision of a couple of months ago, but has been remodeled for the express purpose of reversing the rule of its predecesor. What can be the matter? Has any one of the new judges proved obstreperous and is time wanted to bring him round? Or has the Administration changed its mind? As the whole thing is understood to be cut and dried, one is led to wonder why any discussion need be had at all. Why discuss a foregone conclusion before a packed court? Turning over this vexed question the mind wanders off is or wain search for an answer to find itself vexed question the mind wanders off in vain search for an answer to find itself confronted everywhere by the evil work-ing of the judicial system which admits of such a shameless and perspectively dan-gerous condition as that in which this great tribunal is involved at the present time. The contemplation of the scene must be full of foreboding to every thoughtful looker-on.

So many personal and public interests of vital importance rest upon the decisions of courts of justice, that guarantees of stability have always been considered essential features of every well-regulate judicial system. Important as this featur is to the proper administration of justice in the interior courts, it is of far greater im-portance when considered with reference to courts of final resort. Here its value these higher courts there is no remedy for errors, and in them are established those general principles which insure uniform-ity in the decisions of the lower courts,

It is strange that, among the many wise provisions of the Constitution of the United States to insure the independence and integrity of the Judges of the Supreme Court, this one all-important feature should have been neglected. It is hard to believe that it was overlooked by the framers of the Constitution, and we are rather in-clined to attribute the omission to an excos of confidence in the honesty of the other branches of the Gove ably, in the primitive days of honest pat-rioism, it was never imagined that the President of the United States would enter into a collision with Congress to pack the bench of the Supreme Court to carry a party measure. But, whatever may have been the cause of the omission, this defect in the federal judicial system exists, and, unless it is remedied in some way, it may lead to very disastrous consequences.

The Constitution of the United States only declares, in general terms, that there shall be a Supreme Court, with certain original and appellate powers, and leaves the overall state of the court, to the discrethe organization of the court to the discre-tion of Congress. This puts it in the power of Congress to expand the court at pleasure, by increasing the number of judges, and if the President and the Senate happen to agree on any measure, the con-stitutionality of which they desire to have affirmed, there is little difficulty in shaping the court to the accomplishment of that purpose. Aside from the temptation that purpose. Aside from the temptation to corruption, in buying up judicial opinions with appointments to the office of judge, the mere possibility of stocking the court with men of preconceived though honest opinions on pending cases, is calculated to engender a dangerous distrust in the stability of this important descriptors.

the stability of this important departm of the Government. mankind, which has hitherto been claimed as one of our cardinal virtues, would seem to dictate that, if we are to have the Suases, the temper of the existing court hould be quietly learned and the packing done before a decision is rendered. It cer-tainly does not appear decent to pack the court after a decision is rendered and thus insult the name of justice and the intellibem swallow their own decision.

The fact is, our national respect to the pinions of mankind and our national repect for the spirit of the Constit ing been contemporaneous in their origin, have been simultaneous in their cessation They belong not to the progressive spirit that now rules the destiny of this country. The respect of other people is the only name was the saintly Howard, who Princes Marie Caroline of Naples, daughter of Francis I, and wife of the disbursements of the Freedmen's Bureau, and, as soon as he found that it did not pay, he turned his ambition into sacred pleages, a good deal of wicked leg-islation, and a vast amount of plundering and stealing during the present adminis-tration, but we consider this shameless attempt to pack the Supreme Court the worst thing, in its conception and execution, that has vet been done. We are not surprised that there is a rumor of a pros-pective disruption of the old court, and we hail the rumor as an indication that judicial dignity has not yet sunk into pros-

A FEW BRITISH PHYSICIANS determined to test anew its virtues. About the middle of the last century Sir William Fordyce obtained from Central America a few bales of the genuine plant. He experimented with it throughout a series of years. As the result of his observations he declared that it was without an equal as an alterthe result of his observations he declared that it was without an equal as an alterative, a name given to all those medicines which change existing morbid action without perceptible influence over any of the functions. He called it the great Blood Parifier. He wrote and spoke and lectured on it. He pronounced it a specific—a genuine, sterling genial specific—for all conditions of the system requiring a purifier and alterative. He declared that a specific and alterative and the system requiring a purifier and alterative. He declared that a specific—a graphic of a system requiring a purifier and alterative. A Very Unusual Negro.

[From the Lexington Gasette.]

At the last metting of Lexington Possbytery, sitting in Versailles, a negro applied for license to preach, and it was accorded to him, but not until after a most searching examination, during which he showed himself familiar with Hebrew, Greek and Latin, and all the result of the heart of the showed himself familiar with Hebrew, Greek and Latin, and all the result of the showed himself familiar with Hebrew, Greek and Latin, and all the result of the showed himself familiar with Hebrew Greek and Latin, and all the singular compound of physical deformity and mental scirity, being dwarfed and distorted in body to a degree almost paintil to look upon, and with a very large head, out of all proportion to the rest of his person. He is a reguited son of the great lawyer and erator, S. S. Frentiss, at one time member of Congrees from Mississippi, where he was looked upon as a perfect produgy of eloquence and mental attainment. This son of his seems to possess his father's peculiarities in an exagnented degree, and may yet prove an marrelance so prejudiced the members of the Presubery segainst him that they would have refused him a license if he had shown any dedictery. He was required to deliver a sermon of his own composition, and the matter of it was not only good, but the manner of delivery was composed and admirable. BASE BALL AGAIN.

Inaugural Game Between the Red Stockings and Engle Club at Cedar Hill This Atternoon.

Base Ball has come again. He is a young, roay-checked, athletic fellow that starts up from his hibernal snoose with the first flurry of fresh spring air and walks out to bruise the first blade of green grass that dares to poke its head up above the ground and say that is bead up above the ground and say that pring is here. He has come, and that, too, in his most stalwart form. He comes to be craided by the most sturdy of his subjects and the head-chamberisins of his household. The latest the subjects to the subject of the subject to the subject of the subject sition is blemish, and tossed it from the At-actic to the Pacufic in 1899. They propose of the same in 1870. They leave Cincin-nati this morning on a Southern tour, which o do the same in 1870. They leave Cincin-nati this morning on a Southern tour, which still include New Orleans. They honor Louis-tille with their first match game. They play it Cedar Hull this afternoon. The Eagles, of sourse, do not expect to withstand them, but they mean to play a game that will at least smuse and interest the spectators. The Fourth-street railroad will put on extra cars for this eccasion, and if the weather a good there will indoubtedly be a large crowd at the grounds to witness this very interesting same, if it be for nothing more than to get a clumpse of the celebrated club that is to do not wonders during the coming summer.

THE IRREPRESSIBLE CONFLICT.

A White Man Shot by a Negro.

A reliable and intelligent gentleman informs in that the negroes at and in the vicinity of Charlestown, Clark county, indians, have formed a military company and have been drilling for some time past on the hills near Charlestown with shot-gums and muskets. The arms are said to belong to the old white Union League. On Tuesday night in Charlestown one of the negroes was returning home at 11½ o'clock, when he was met by two white men, Clarence Daniels and Berry McComb. Some words passed, and finally a quarrel ensued, which resulted in the negro drawing his shot-gun and firing on Daniels, three buckshoft taking effect in Daniels' leg. Our informant states that Daniels and McComb were only joking with the negro, and that he grew impudent and lossiling, from whence the quarrel arose. The officers of Clark county will certainly look into the matter and take steps to prevent the gathering of armed men in this hostile manner. A White Man Shot by a Negro.

Miss Logan is about the medium hight, of full figure, and easy and greecful in her movement—an accomplishment which she owes, ments—an accomplishment which she owes, the stage. Her hair is luxuriant, and of a beautiful shade of brown, and was worn last evening in heavy plate at the back of the head, in what we presume to be the latest style of coffurs. Her dress was of costly black velvet, with an overdress of heavy, rich silk, with paniers of unusual dimensions. A broad band of silk secticed the akirt, and the same material was used for trimung pended from her ear, and braselts of plain gold, twisted in a somewhat carrious fashion, were about her wrists. THE case of LATY Morgan, on motion for a new trial, came up in the City Court yester-day. This is the case on which the consti-tutionality of the new charter in the matter of fines for drunkenness was to be tested, but the attorney who was to argue it failed to come up, and the motion was overruled. A woman who was lodged in the West-end station-house for a misdemeanor last night tobjected to the arrest, claiming that she was in an interesting situation. Liest Lambourne sent for a physician, who, after a careful diagnosis, gave it as his opinion that nothing serious would result from her imprisonment.

THE CENTRAL SAVINGS Bank and Insurance Company recently purchased the property known as the Kentucky Tavera, on the north side of Market street, between Third and Fourth. Yesterosy workmen were tearing away the old building to make room for the erection of one of the finest buildings in the city, which will be used by the company for their business.

"mixed," part stock and part instants, and they manage to terminate whenever the stock sharks can eat up the mutual members. The Mechanics' Co-operative and Buliding Association of Louisville is the wife's and mother's freed and benefactor. The essec-tial features of a savings bank, an insurance society, a loss association and a buliding cor-poration enter somewhat into its "make up." It is designed to enable its stockholders, upon a mutual participation basis, to creet con-fortable family dwellings; moreover, to foster manufactories, to accumulate and sequire its money power little by little, to make quick sales of ground, to give reasonable credits upon lossa, to distribute the profits equally and to make its stock a sale and lucrative investment. The funds are not allowed to reinvestment. The funds are not allowed to re-main in the treasury, but they are continually lovested in real estate, bought by the acre, and iosned upon real estate morigage. BASE BALL AGAIN.

Innurural Came Between the Red stockings and Eagle Club at Cedar Hill This Atternoon. Base Ball has come again. He is a young, rosy-checked, athletic fellow that starts up from his hibernal snoone with the first flurry of fresh spring air and walks out to bruise the first blade of green grass that dares to poke its bead up above the ground and say that spring a here. He has come, and that, too, in his most stalwart form. He comes to be heralded by the most sturdy of his subjects and the head-chamberlains of his household. He is amounced by his most Insty champions, the indomitable "Red St ckings," who were the only nine players that held the ball without a blemish, and tossed it from the Atlantic to the Pacific in 1869. They propose to do the same in 1870. They leave Cincinnati this morning on a Southern tour, which will include New Orleans. They honor Louisville with their first match game. They play at Cedar Hill this afternoon. The Eagles, of course, do not expect to withstand them, but they mean to play a game that will at least amuse and interest the spectators. The Fourth-atreet railroad will put on extra cars for this cecasion, and if the weather us good there will undoubtedly be a large crowd at the grounds to witness this very interesting game, if it be for nothing more than to get a gimpse of the celebrated club that is to de ing of armed men in this hostile manner.

THE IRREPRESSIBLE CONFLICT.

A White Man Shot by a Negro.

A reliable and intelligent gentleman informs in that the negroes at and in the vicinity of Charlestown, Clark county, indians, have formed a military company and have been drilling for some time past on the hills near (Charlestown with shot-guns and muskets. The arms are said to belong to the old white Union League. On Tuesday night in Charlestown one of the negroes was returning home at 11½ o'clock, when he was met by two white men, Clarence Daniels and Berry McComb. Some words passed, and finally a quarrel enouel, which resulted in the negro drawing his shot-gun and firing on Daniels, three buckshot taking effect in Daniels' lee, Our informant states that Daniels and McComb were only joking with the negro, and that he grew impudent and iosaliting, from whence the quarrel arose. The officers of Clark county will certainly look into the matter and take steps to prevent the gathering of armed men in this hostile manner.

Persistent Incendiaries.

On Sunday a novel succession of fires, supposed to be the work of one or more incendiaries, occurred at the drug-store of J. H. Barnard, corner of Fourth and Green streets, St. Louis. No fewer than five fires, says the Times of that city, proke out on the Babbath in the building mentioned; and to show how independent each of the conflagrations was of all the rest, it is only necessary to state that the places where the fires were discovered ranged from the cellar to the third is the second story; the fourth in the cellar, and the fifth in a remote position from the last. Each of the fires was extlinguished before much demage was done, but, on the whole, the loss will probably reach $800. The police havetaken charge of the premises to prevent larther sets of arson. The building, owned by Mrs. Hopburn, of Louisville, Ky., is insured for $5,000 in the State Mutual, and the stock, the property of J. H. Barnard, in the Mound City Mutual for $4,000 and in the Ætna for $3,000.

The Bank Statement. The following is an exhibit of the capital and deposits of the different city banks during the month of March:

Capital. Deposits.

About 12 o'clock last night's general row occurred smong the negroes, at the corner of Fifth and Green streets. We could not sacertain the cause of the disturbance, but learned that, for a while, matters assumed a very serious aspect. The fight seemed to be between about twenty at the same time, and it was rumored on the atrock that one negro was killed, but, upon inquiry, we found that the rumor originated by one of the party getting cut slightly with a razor in the hands of some one engaged in the affair. The police arrosted George Brown, Dick Rawles, Bob Churchill, Jim Alexander, Henry Smith, Wm. E. Buckner, Leri Robinson and Rachel Robinson, whom they lodged in jail for being implicated in the fight. Negro Row.

The cast was a good one, the young lady who performed "Louisa Drayton" being especially attractive in that role. That ratiling, humor-ous farce, the "Limerick Boy," was exceedingly well given, Paddy Miles being played with a good deal of rollicking fun and genuine frish spirit, and producing much laughter. There was a very nice house present, aithough the night was a very inclement one, and everythine went off very smoothly and nicely. The Western Star Band, under the direction of Chris. Haupt, the popular leader, was present, and performed a variety of airs. To-night the "Golden Farmer," and that touching play, the "Old Guard," will be performed. As the object for which these charming dramatic entertainments are given is purely charitable, and under the suspices of the Masonic Ladies' Widows' and Orphaus' Home Seciety, they should commend themselves to all, aside from the acknowledged merit of the performance. Let there, then, be a general turnout to-olght of all old men, and young men, mothers, wives, and sweethearts, and give the Club a substantial proof of appreciation.
